Item 4 - Advisory Business

General Information

In 2009, Redwood Wealth Management, LLC (“RWM”) succeeded Niagara Financial Advisors, which was founded in 2001.

Steinberger Incorporated (owned by Lane Steinberger), Redwood Financial Services, Inc. (owned by Shawn Meade), and Bluerock Advisors, Inc. (owned by Raj Chokshi) are the principal owners of RWM. Please see Brochure Supplements, Exhibit A, for more information on these principal owners and other individuals who formulate investment advice and have direct contact with clients, or have discretionary authority over client accounts.

As of December 31, 2016, RWM managed $543,922,298 on a discretionary basis, and no assets on a non-discretionary basis.

SERVICES PROVIDED

RWM provides financial planning, portfolio management and general consulting services to its clients. At the outset of each client relationship, RWM spends time with the client, asking questions, discussing the client’s investment experience and financial circumstances, and broadly identifying major goals of the client.

Clients may elect to retain RWM to prepare a full financial plan. This written report is presented to the client for consideration. In most cases, clients subsequently retain RWM to manage the investment portfolio on an ongoing basis.

For those financial planning clients making this election, and for other clients who do not need financial planning but retain RWM for portfolio management services, based on all the information initially gathered, RWM generally develops with each client:

- a financial outline for the client based on the client’s financial circumstances and goals, and the client’s risk tolerance level (the “Financial Profile” or “Profile”);
- the client’s investment objectives and guidelines (the “Investment Plan” or “Plan”).

The Financial Profile is a reflection of the client’s current financial picture and a look to the future goals of the client. The Investment Plan outlines the types of investments RWM will make on behalf of the client to meet those goals. The Profile and the Plan are discussed regularly with each client, but are not necessarily written documents.

Where RWM provides general consulting services, RWM will work with the client to prepare an appropriate summary of the specific project(s) to the extent necessary or advisable under the circumstances.

With respect to any account for which RWM meets the definition of a fiduciary under Department of Labor rules, RWM acknowledges that both RWM and its Related Persons are acting as fiduciaries. Additional disclosure may be found elsewhere in this Brochure or in the written agreement between RWM and Client.

Financial Planning

One of the services offered by RWM is financial planning, described below. This service may be provided as a stand-alone service, or may be coupled with ongoing portfolio management.

Financial planning may include advice that addresses one or more areas of a client's financial situation, such as estate planning, risk management, budgeting and cash flow controls, retirement planning, education funding, and investment portfolio design. Depending on a client's particular situation, financial planning will generally include some or all of the following, as applicable:

- Preparation of an annual net worth statement;
- Create a cash flow statement;
- Review current investments and make recommendations thereon;
- Review client's most recent tax returns and provide tax planning advice or tax preparation services;
- Review client's life insurance and disability insurance and make recommendations thereon;
- Review client's estate plan and make recommendations thereon;
- Complete a retirement analysis; and
- Provide education planning advice.

Once financial planning advice is given, the client may choose to have RWM implement the client's financial plan and manage the investment portfolio on an ongoing basis. However, the client is under no obligation to act upon any of the recommendations made by RWM under a financial planning engagement and/or engage the services of any recommended professional.

Portfolio Management

As described above, at the beginning of a client relationship, RWM meets with the client, gathers information, and performs research and analysis as necessary to develop the client's Investment Plan. The Investment Plan will be updated from time to time when requested by the client, or when determined to be necessary or advisable by RWM based on updates to the client's financial or other circumstances.

To implement the client's Investment Plan, RWM will manage the client's investment portfolio on a discretionary basis. As a discretionary investment adviser, RWM will have the authority to supervise and direct the portfolio without prior consultation with the client.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, clients may impose certain written restrictions on RWM in the management of their investment portfolios, such as prohibiting the inclusion of certain types of investments in an investment portfolio or prohibiting the sale of certain investments held in the account at the commencement of the relationship. Each client should note, however, that restrictions imposed by a client may adversely affect the composition and performance of the client's investment portfolio. Each client should also note that his or her investment portfolio is treated individually by giving consideration to each purchase or sale for the client's account. For these and other reasons, performance of client investment portfolios within the same investment objectives, goals and/or risk tolerance may differ and clients should not expect that the composition or performance of their investment portfolios would necessarily be consistent with similar clients of RWM.

General Consulting

In addition to the foregoing services, RWM may provide general consulting services to clients. These services are generally provided on a project basis, and may include, without limitation, minimal cash flow planning for certain events such as education expenses or retirement, estate planning analysis, income tax planning analysis and review of a client's insurance portfolio, as well as other matters specific to the client as and when requested by the client and agreed to by RWM. The scope and fees for consulting services will be negotiated with each client at the time of engagement for the applicable project.

Item 5 - Fees and Compensation

General Fee Information

Fees paid to RWM are exclusive of all custodial and transaction costs paid to the client's custodian, brokers or other third party consultants. Please see Item 12 - Brokerage Practices for additional information. Fees paid to RWM are also separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds, ETFs (exchange traded funds) or other investment pools to their shareholders (generally including a management fee and fund expenses, as described in each fund's prospectus or offering materials). The client should review all fees charged by funds, brokers, RWM and others to fully understand the total amount of fees paid by the client for investment and financial-related services.

Financial Planning Fees

Fees are charged on an hourly or fixed fee basis. Hourly fees range from $150 to $300 per hour. Fixed fees are negotiated in advance and are based on hourly fees and the estimated time required for the service.

Portfolio Management Fees

The annual fee schedule, based on a percentage of assets under management, is as follows:

Up to $500,000	1.50%
$500,000 - $1,000,000	1.25%
$1,000,000 - $2,000,000	1.00%
Balance above $2,000,000	Negotiable

The minimum portfolio value is generally set at $250,000. The minimum annual fee for any account is $2,500. RWM may, at its discretion, make exceptions to the foregoing or negotiate special fee arrangements where RWM deems it appropriate under the circumstances.

Alternatively, portfolio management fees may be charged on a fixed basis, established based on the size and complexity of the portfolio to be managed.

Portfolio management fees are generally payable quarterly, in advance. If management begins after the start of a quarter, fees will be prorated accordingly. Therefore, in the initial quarter of management, a portion of the fee will be assessed in arrears. With client authorization and unless other arrangements are made, fees are normally debited directly from client account(s). Thereafter, all quarterly fees will be charged in advance during the first month of the quarter and be based on the previous quarter's ending balance.

For accounts with a margin balance, clients are assessed the management fee based on the gross value of the assets in the account. In other words, the account value on which the fee is calculated is not reduced by the margin balance.

Either RWM or the client may terminate their Investment Management Agreement at any time, subject to any written notice requirements in the agreement. In the event of termination, any paid but unearned fees will be promptly refunded to the client based on the number of days that the account was managed, and any fees due to RWM from the client will be invoiced or deducted from the client's account prior to termination.

General Consulting Fees

When RWM provides general consulting services to clients, these services are generally separate from RWM's financial planning and portfolio management services. Fees for general consulting are negotiated at the time of the engagement for such services, and are normally based on an hourly rate of $150 to $300 or fixed fee basis.

Item 6 - Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

RWM does not have any performance-based fee arrangements. "Side-by-Side Management" refers to a situation in which the same firm manages accounts that are billed based on a percentage of assets under management and at the same time manages other accounts for which fees are assessed on a performance fee basis. Because RWM has no performance-based fee accounts, it has no side-by-side management.

Item 7 - Types of Clients

RWM serves individuals and corporations. With some exceptions, the minimum portfolio value eligible for conventional investment advisory services is $250,000, and the annual minimum fee charged is $2,500. Under certain circumstances and in its sole discretion, RWM may negotiate such minimums.

Item 8 - Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

In accordance with the Investment Plan, RWM generally selects mutual funds, Exchange Traded Funds ("ETFs"), and on a more limited basis individual bonds and/or stocks for client accounts.

Mutual funds and ETFs are generally evaluated and selected based on a variety of factors, including, without limitation, past performance, fee structure, portfolio manager, fund sponsor, overall ratings for safety and returns, and other factors.

Fixed income investments may be used as a strategic investment, as an instrument to fulfill liquidity or income needs in a portfolio, or to add a component of capital preservation. RWM will generally evaluate and select individual bonds or bond funds based on a number of factors including, without limitation, rating, yield and duration.

In making selections of individual stocks for client portfolios, RWM will generally focus on fundamental analysis, which involves a review of the business and financial information about an issuer. Without limitation, the following factors generally will be considered:

- Financial strength ratios;
- Price-to-earnings ratios;
- Dividend yields; and
- Growth rate-to-price earnings ratios

Investment Strategies

RWM's strategic approach is to invest each portfolio in accordance with the Plan that has been developed specifically for each client. RWM focuses on the most appropriate allocation among various asset classes in developing the Plan.

The following strategies may be used in varying combinations over time for a given client, depending upon the client's individual circumstances.

Long Term Purchases – securities purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period of time, generally greater than one year.

Short Term Purchases – securities purchased with the expectation that they will be sold within a relatively short period of time, generally less than one year, to take advantage of the securities' short term price fluctuations.

Risk of Loss

While RWM seeks to diversify clients' investment portfolios across various asset classes consistent with their Investment Plans in an effort to reduce risk of loss, all investment portfolios are subject to risks. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that client investment portfolios will be able to fully meet their investment objectives and goals, or that investments will not lose money.

Below is a description of several of the principal risks that client investment portfolios face.

Management Risks. While RWM manages client investment portfolios based on RWM's experience, research and proprietary methods, the value of client investment portfolios will change daily based on the performance of the underlying securities in which they are invested. Accordingly, client investment portfolios are subject to the risk that RWM allocates client assets to individual securities and/or asset classes that are adversely affected by unanticipated market movements, and the risk that RWM's specific investment choices could underperform their relevant indexes.

Risks of Investments in Mutual Funds, ETFs and Other Investment Pools. As described above, RWM will invest client portfolios in mutual funds, ETFs and other investment pools ("pooled investment funds"). Investments in pooled investment funds are generally less risky than investing in individual securities because of their diversified portfolios; however, these investments are still subject to risks associated with the markets in which they invest. In addition, pooled investment funds' success will be related to the skills of their particular managers and their performance in managing their funds. Pooled investment funds are also subject to risks due to regulatory restrictions applicable to registered investment companies under the Investment Company Act of 1940.

Equity Market Risks. RWM will generally invest portions of client assets directly into equity investments, primarily pooled investment funds that invest in the stock market. As noted above, while pooled investments have diversified portfolios that may make them less risky than investments in individual securities, funds that invest in stocks and other equity securities are nevertheless subject to the risks of the stock market. These risks include, without limitation, the risks that stock values will decline due to daily fluctuations in the markets, and that stock values will decline over longer periods (e.g., bear markets) due to general market declines in the stock prices for all companies, regardless of any individual security's prospects.

Fixed Income Risks. RWM may invest portions of client assets directly into fixed income instruments, such as bonds and notes, or may invest in pooled investment funds that invest in bonds and notes. While investing in fixed income instruments, either directly or through pooled investment funds, is generally less volatile than investing in stock (equity) markets, fixed income investments nevertheless are subject to risks. These risks include, without limitation, interest rate risks (risks that changes in interest rates will devalue the investments), credit risks (risks of default by borrowers), or maturity risk (risks that bonds or notes will change value from the time of issuance to maturity).

Foreign Securities Risks. RWM may invest portions of client assets into pooled investment funds that invest internationally. While foreign investments are important to the diversification of client investment portfolios, they carry risks that may be different from U.S. investments. For example, foreign investments may not be subject to uniform audit, financial reporting or disclosure standards, practices or requirements comparable to those found in the U.S. Foreign investments are also subject to foreign withholding taxes and the risk of adverse changes in investment or exchange control regulations. Finally, foreign investments may involve currency risk, which is the risk that the value of the foreign security will decrease due to changes in the relative value of the U.S. dollar and the security's underlying foreign currency.

Item 9 - Disciplinary Information

Registered investment advisers are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to a client's evaluation of RWM or the integrity of RWM's management. RWM has no disciplinary events to report.

Item 10 - Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

RWM's Chief Investment Officer (Lane Steinberger) provides investment counsel to other advisory firms through his corporation Steinberger Consulting. The advice provided by Mr. Steinberger may include, depending upon the needs of the other advisory firm: quarterly strategy meetings, advice regarding model portfolio recommendations and, on a more limited basis, advice regarding specific client circumstances.

Item 11 - Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics and Personal Trading

RWM has adopted a Code of Ethics ("the Code"), the full text of which is available to you upon request. RWM's Code has several goals. First, the Code is designed to assist RWM in complying with applicable laws and regulations governing its investment advisory business. Under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, RWM owes fiduciary duties to its clients. Pursuant to these fiduciary duties, the Code requires persons associated with RWM (managers, officers and employees) to act with honesty, good faith and fair dealing in working with clients. In addition, the Code prohibits such associated persons from trading or otherwise acting on insider information.

Next, the Code sets forth guidelines for professional standards for RWM's associated persons. Under the Code's Professional Standards, RWM expects its associated persons to put the interests of its clients first, ahead of personal interests. In this regard, RWM associated persons are not to take inappropriate advantage of their positions in relation to RWM clients.

Third, the Code sets forth policies and procedures to monitor and review the personal trading activities of associated persons. From time to time RWM's associated persons may invest in the same securities recommended to clients. Under its Code, RWM has adopted procedures designed to reduce or eliminate conflicts of interest that this could potentially cause. The Code's personal trading policies include procedures for limitations on personal securities transactions of associated persons, reporting and review of such trading and pre-clearance of certain types of personal trading activities. These policies are designed to discourage and prohibit personal trading that would disadvantage clients. The Code also provides for disciplinary action as appropriate for violations.

Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

Because associated persons may invest in the same securities as those held in client accounts, RWM has established a policy requiring its associated persons to pre-clear transactions in some types of securities with the Chief Compliance Officer. The goal of this policy is to avoid any conflicts of interest that arise in these situations. Some types of securities, such as CDs, treasury obligations and open-end mutual funds are exempt from this pre-clearance requirement. However, in the event of other identified potential trading conflicts of interest, RWM's goal is to place client interests first.

Consistent with the foregoing, RWM maintains policies regarding participation in initial public offerings ("IPO"s) and private placements to comply with applicable laws and avoid conflicts with client transactions. If a RWM associated person wishes to participate in an IPO or invest in a private placement, he or she must submit a pre-clearance request and obtain the approval of the Chief Compliance Officer.

Finally, if associated persons trade with client accounts (i.e., in a bundled or aggregated trade), and the trade is not filled in its entirety, the associated person's shares will be removed from the block, and the balance of shares will be allocated among client accounts in accordance with RWM's written policy.

Item 12 - Brokerage Practices

Best Execution and Benefits of Brokerage Selection

When given discretion to select the brokerage firm that will execute orders in client accounts, RWM seeks "best execution" for client trades, which is a combination of a number of factors, including, without limitation, quality of execution, services provided and commission rates. Therefore, RWM may use or recommend the use of brokers who do not charge the lowest available commission in the recognition of research and securities transaction services, or quality of execution. Research services received with transactions may include proprietary or third party research (or any combination), and may be used in servicing any or all of RWM's clients. Therefore, research services received may not be used for the account for which the particular transaction was effected.

RWM participates in the Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services ("FIWS") program. While there is no direct link between the investment advice RWM provides and participation in the FIWS program, RWM receives certain economic benefits from the FIWS program. These benefits may include software and other technology that provides access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements), facilitates trade execution (and allocation of aggregated orders for multiple client accounts), provides research, pricing information and other market data, facilitates the payment of RWM's fees from its clients' accounts, and assists with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting. Many of these services may be used to service all or a substantial number of RWM's accounts, including accounts not held at Fidelity. Fidelity may also make available to RWM other services intended to help RWM manage and further develop its business. These services may include consulting, publications and conferences on practice management, information technology, business succession, regulatory compliance and marketing. In addition, Fidelity may make available, arrange and/or pay for these types of services to be rendered to RWM by independent third parties. Fidelity may discount or waive fees it would otherwise charge for some of these services, pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to RWM, and/or Fidelity may pay for travel expenses relating to participation in such training. Finally, participation in the FIWS program provides RWM with access to mutual funds which normally require significantly higher minimum initial investments or are normally available only to institutional investors.

The benefits received through participation in the FIWS program do not necessarily depend upon the proportion of transactions directed to Fidelity. The benefits are received by RWM, in part because of commission revenue generated for Fidelity by RWM's clients. This means that the investment activity in client accounts is beneficial to RWM, because Fidelity does not assess a fee to RWM for these services. This creates an incentive for RWM to continue to recommend Fidelity to its clients. While it may be possible to obtain similar custodial, execution and other services elsewhere at a lower cost, RWM believes that Fidelity provides an excellent combination of these services. These services are not soft dollar arrangements, but are part of the institutional platform offered by Fidelity.

RWM also participates in the institutional advisor program (the "Program") offered by TD Ameritrade Institutional, Division of TD Ameritrade Inc., member FINRA/SIPC ("TD Ameritrade"). TD Ameritrade offers its Program to independent investment advisers. The Program includes such services as custody of securities, trade execution, clearance and settlement of transactions. RWM receives some benefits from TD Ameritrade through its participation in the Program. RWM is independently owned and operated and is not affiliated with TD Ameritrade.

RWM may recommend TD Ameritrade to clients for custody and brokerage services. While there is no direct link between RWM's participation in the Program and the investment advice it gives to its clients, through its participation in the Program RWM receives economic benefits that are typically not available to TD Ameritrade retail investors. These benefits generally include, without limitation, the following products and services (provided without cost or at a discount): receipt of duplicate client statements and confirmations; research related products and tools; consulting services; access to a trading desk serving Program participants; access to block trading (which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions for execution and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts); the ability to have advisory fees deducted directly from client accounts; access to an electronic communications network for client order entry and account information; access to mutual funds with no transaction fees and to certain institutional money managers; and discounts on compliance, marketing, research, technology, and practice management products or services provided to RWM by third party vendors. TD Ameritrade may also pay for business consulting and professional services received by RWM's related persons. These services are not soft dollar arrangements, but are part of the institutional platform offered by TD Ameritrade.

Some of the products and services made available by TD Ameritrade through the Program may benefit RWM but may not directly benefit its client accounts. These products or services may assist RWM in managing and administering client accounts, including accounts not maintained at TD Ameritrade. Other services made available by TD Ameritrade are intended to help RWM manage and further develop its business enterprise. The benefits received by RWM or its personnel through participation in the Program do not depend on the amount of brokerage transactions directed to TD Ameritrade. As part of its fiduciary duties to clients, RWM endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that the receipt of economic benefits by RWM or its related persons in and of itself creates a potential conflict of interest and may indirectly influence RWM's choice of TD Ameritrade for custody and brokerage services.

Directed Brokerage

RWM does not generally allow directed brokerage accounts.

Aggregated Trade Policy

RWM typically directs trading in individual client accounts as and when trades are appropriate based on the client's Investment Plan, without regard to activity in other client accounts. However, from time to time, RWM may aggregate trades together for multiple client accounts, most often when these accounts are being directed to sell the same securities. If such an aggregated trade is not completely filled, RWM will allocate shares received (in an aggregated purchase) or sold (in an aggregated sale) across participating accounts on a pro rata or other fair basis; provided, however, that any participating accounts that are owned by RWM or its officers, directors, or employees will be excluded first.

Item 13 - Review of Accounts

Managed portfolios are reviewed at least quarterly, but may be reviewed more often if requested by the client, upon receipt of information material to the management of the portfolio, or at any time such review is deemed necessary or advisable by RWM. These factors generally include but are not limited to, the following: change in general client circumstances (marriage, divorce, retirement); or economic, political or market conditions. In addition, the portfolio of recommended securities is reviewed, in aggregate, on at least a weekly basis. Any perceived need for change is then considered for each client portfolio on an individual basis. Partners or Wealth Managers of RWM, review all accounts.

For those clients to whom RWM provides separate financial planning and/or consulting services, reviews are conducted on an as needed or agreed upon basis. Such reviews are conducted by one of RWM's investment adviser representatives or principals.

Account custodians are responsible for providing monthly or quarterly account statements which reflect the positions (and current pricing) in each account as well as transactions in each account, including fees paid from an account. Account custodians also provide prompt confirmation of all trading activity, and year-end tax statements, such as 1099 forms. In addition, RWM provides at least an annual report for each managed portfolio. This written report normally includes a summary of portfolio holdings and performance results. Additional reports are available at the request of the client.

Item 14 - Client Referrals and Other Compensation

As noted above, RWM receives an economic benefit from Fidelity and TD Ameritrade in the form of support products and services it makes available to RWM and other independent investment advisors that have their clients maintain accounts at Fidelity or TD Ameritrade. These products and services, how they benefit our firm, and the related conflicts of interest are described in (Item 12 - Brokerage Practices). The availability of Fidelity's and TD Ameritrade's products and services to RWM is based solely on our participation in the program, and not on the provision of any particular investment advice. Neither Fidelity, nor TD Ameritrade, nor any other party is paid to refer clients to RWM.

From time to time, RWM may enter into arrangements with third parties (“Solicitors”) to identify and refer potential clients to RWM. Consistent with legal requirements under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended, a RWM enters into written agreements with Solicitors under which, among other things, Solicitors are required to disclose their compensation arrangements to prospective clients before such clients enter into an agreement with RWM.

Item 15 - Custody

Fidelity is the custodian of nearly all client accounts at RWM. From time to time however, clients may select an alternate broker to hold accounts in custody. In any case, it is the custodian’s responsibility to provide clients with confirmations of trading activity, tax forms and at least quarterly account statements. Clients are advised to review this information carefully, and to notify RWM of any questions or concerns. Clients are also asked to promptly notify RWM if the custodian fails to provide statements on each account held.

From time to time and in accordance with RWM’s agreement with clients, RWM will provide additional reports. The account balances reflected on these reports should be compared to the balances shown on the brokerage statements to ensure accuracy. At times there may be small differences due to the timing of dividend reporting and pending trades.

Item 16 - Investment Discretion

As described above under Item 4 - Advisory Business, RWM manages portfolios on a discretionary basis. This means that after an Investment Plan is developed for the client’s investment portfolio, RWM will execute that plan without specific consent from the client for each transaction. For discretionary accounts, a Limited Power of Attorney (“LPOA”) is executed by the client, giving RWM the authority to carry out various activities in the account, generally including the following: trade execution; the ability to request checks on behalf of the client; and, the withdrawal of advisory fees directly from the account. RWM then directs investment of the client’s portfolio using its discretionary authority. The client may limit the terms of the LPOA to the extent consistent with the client’s investment advisory agreement with RWM and the requirements of the client’s custodian. The discretionary relationship is further described in the agreement between RWM and the client.

Item 17 - Voting Client Securities

As a policy and in accordance with RWM’s client agreement, RWM does not vote proxies related to securities held in client accounts. The custodian of the account will normally provide proxy materials directly to the client. Clients may contact RWM with questions relating to proxy procedures and proposals; however, RWM generally does not research particular proxy proposals.

Item 18 - Financial Information

RWM does not require nor solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance, and therefore has no disclosure required for this item.

Item 2 - Educational Background and Business Experience

Shawn Meade (year of birth 1972) is a Partner and Chief Compliance Officer of RWM. Shawn's work history started at Ernst & Young where he worked as an auditor from September 1994 to January 1998. He then went to work for Alltel Information Services as a Senior Accountant from January 1998 to March 1999. Shawn then returned to Ernst & Young in March 1999 through September 2003 as a Senior Associate in the Health Science Advisory Services consulting practice. While still working at Ernst & Young, Shawn helped form Niagara Financial Advisors in 2001 where he worked until January 2009 as a Partner. Redwood Wealth Management succeeded Niagara Financial Advisors in 2009, and Shawn remains as one of the firm's Partners.

Shawn currently resides in Canton, Georgia. Shawn earned a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from Ohio State University in 1994. Then in 2001, he earned a Master of Science from Georgia State University. Shawn became a Certified Public Accountant* (CPA) in 1997. He obtained his CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™ certification in 2002.

* A CPA is a Certified Public Accountant. ALL CPA candidates must pass the Uniform CPA Examination to qualify for a CPA certificate and license to practice public accounting. While the exam is the same regardless of where it is taken, every state/jurisdiction has its own set of education and experience requirements that individuals must meet. However, most states require at least a bachelor's degree and a concentration in accounting, and at least one year public accounting experience under the supervision of or verification by a CPA. Once the designation is attained, the CPA is required to meet continuing education requirements.

 The CFP® certification is granted by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (CFP Board). To attain the certification, the candidate must complete the required educational, examination, experience and ethics requirements set forth by CFP Board. Certain designations, such as the CPA, CFA and others may satisfy the education component, and allow a candidate to sit for the CFP® Certification Examination. A comprehensive examination tests the candidate's ability to apply financial planning knowledge to client situations. Qualifying work experience is also required for certification.
